

Courageous Collette's side kick is Caring Carrie !!!

By Alice Fury

Caring Carrie is compassionate, caring, kind, loving, sweet, loyal and nice

Courageous Collette and Caring Carrie do amazing quests to save the world with kindness. Let me tell you about their quests.

So for the first quest they went to the park because there was always trouble at the park. When they got there, there was already a fight but don't worry it was solved in a flash. They had to stop three fights before it was dark then they went home to get a good nights sleep.

In the morning they went straight to the shop to get some food for the week. That's when they saw an old lady struggling to carry her grocery bags. They rushed over to help her carry her heavy bags to her car. She was very grateful and they went home feeling very happy.

They went home for brunch and started to talk about all their quests.

Quest three happened after brunch. They went for a walk on the beach when they saw someone drowning and the lifeguard was doing nothing so they went in and rescued him. The lifeguards were fired and they went home ready for tomorrow.

In the morning, Courageous Collette and Caring Carrie woke up to miserable weather. It looked like a tornado outside with the wind in a spiral. They saw that the neighbour's new kitten was stuck inside so decided to go and see if she was okay before the storm got too close. Luckily they had a spare key so they let themselves in.

Inside they were surprised to see that the kitten had shattered a very expensive looking glass vase. They had to think fast – how were they going to put it back together. Should they use sticky tape or glue. They saw a glue gun and hoped that the glue might be invisible. It worked like magic – the kitten was safe and would not get into trouble.

Quest four was complete and they could go home for a well deserved rest.

For their next kindness quest, Collette and Carrie wanted to do something extra special. That had seen on the TV that there was a little girl whose dream it was to climb Table Mountain, but she didn't have any legs. They decided to build her a special suit with remote control legs that she could use to help her climb. They would need to be next to her in case she needed extra help.

On the day of the climb just as they were getting to the top of Table Mountain, out of nowhere came a dassie. It scared them all and one of her prosthetic legs fell off and rolled down the mountain.

Oh dear – what now?

They had to carry her the last few meters themselves. Everyone was excited to get to the top of Table Mountain. What an amazing quest!

President Ramaphosa heard about the quests of Courageous Colette and Caring Carrie and wanted to say thank you to them. He invited them to his official residence to present them with special “caring” medals and a lovely party. \

They were able to invite all the people they had helped and their friends too.

What a lovely day everyone had.

The end.
