

It started like a normal day. Everything was normal. A normal house. A normal sun. A normal world. I went to school by bus. As I arrived at the school, the 'Schlice' shouted, "YOU MUSTN'T LOSE YOUR HOMEWORK!" When I got into the school, someone shouted at me really loudly, "Hey, I found a special pencil case!" I thought it sounded like Falcon.

When I arrived in the classroom, everyone was talking. I think they were talking about the exam we had yesterday afternoon. It was very important for us, and everyone studied really hard. When I found Falcon, he looked really surprised. He looked up at me, really happy, and said, "Look, my friend! I found a special key and a pencil case with lots of mobile phones in it... in my desk!" "Wow, that sounds great! But what is the key for?" I asked.

In the afternoon, as I went to the bathroom, I realized there was a door in front of me. I pulled Falcon, and we put the key in the door. The door opened with a loud noise, and we saw there was a person in there.

Then we noticed it wasn't really a person. We thought it was an alien. I was really scared, and we suddenly wanted to escape, but soon we realized the bathroom door was locked. We were really scared, and then we heard a quiet sound. "Hello, I'm Teamwork Tama," whispered the alien. We were really surprised that it could speak a human language. We asked him, "Who are you? Where are you from?" A few seconds later, it said, "I'm Teamwork Tama, the hero of Round Square."

Then we suddenly noticed something outside the door. The door suddenly opened, and a lot of books with legs and arms came into the bathroom. "Oh no! The Homeworkster!" we cried. "It's the most dangerous thing in the world! Come here right now!"

Then we got into a dirty pool! "Oh no! There's a lot of dirty water," we cried, "and the pool is too deep!" Then Teamwork Tama said, "Let's swim together." After that, we were dirty all over, we found there were two ways, and we didn't know which way was the right way to escape. So, he found a long rope to connect us. I went left with Falcon, and Tama went right. As we got to the cave, Falcon remembered he had a small robot. We turned on the robot and asked him to check the way ahead. A few minutes later, it came back and said there is a clean full of water. We were too happy to find it and soon jumped in to have a comfortable shower. We soon noticed there was a door at the end of the road. We were really surprised and thought we had found the way to escape.

Next, we asked Teamwork Tama to go and help us open the door because the door was too heavy to open. Then we suddenly noticed it was easier to use a rope. We pulled the door, and suddenly it opened. We were too surprised to even laugh.

After escaping from the horrible Homeworkster, we suddenly heard a loud sound. "You two have the nerve to sleep in my class! You both must stay for detention after school!"

We woke up suddenly and realized it was all a dream. But then we noticed we were still holding Tama's rope. When we touched it, we could still hear his voice, "I need to walk with someone who needs help."
