Boom! Crash! Collette seizes the Goo monster in her protective handcuffs. "Another victory!" exclaims the crowd. Because of this heroic gesture, the city is once again safe and sound! As you may know, Collette is a very skilled superhero, except her best quality is that she is the most courageous superhero in The Round Square Heroes of Discovery. Colette has the heart of a warrior and the hair of a sun. She is the best of the best when stopping villains. Except, she doesn't win all those victories by herself, she needs help of course! It is time to introduce you to her fearless sidekick: Lucas.

Lucas is a squirrel monkey from Central America. Collette found him while she was arresting a circus owner juggling bombs on a tricycle. After many tries, she had slipped the handcuffs on his arms and was checking out his red and white circus tent. In there, she found many animals, like narwhals, elephants, parrots and a lost and forgotten monkey. When they met, they were already bound to stay together. Their connection was so strong, they could read each other's mind! Since our hero has found him, they've been inseparable!

Lucas has a trophy symbol on his shirt and he always wears a red cape similar to courageous Collette's. His cape is magical since it can make him invisible. He also always proudly wears a black top hat made of wool to keep his magic intact inside. "What magic?" you may ask yourselves. Lucas keeps magic tools in his hat. Thanks to him, they fight evil with the right tools! Lucas has small feet which help him to run very fast! He also has large ears and huge eyes which help him hear and see everything from miles away which has been handy many times. Our monkey also owns a big belt with magic show materials to entertain anybody sad. Finally his tail is very flexible and he has used it in many missions since it can shape itself into different kinds of keys.

Whenever Collette has an issue, Lucas is always the first one there to help her. If it's cheering her up when she is sad, helping her fight a giant monster or finishing a homework the day before it is due, Lucas is always there. For instance, last week, Collette wanted to enter a talent show. Except, she was too afraid of the crowd and thought that she wasn't a good dancer. Lucas quickly went to the rescue and convinced her to enter by reassuring her that her dancing was great. He also reminded her that they didn't call her "Courageous Collette" for nothing. He also helped her rehearse every day until the talent show and even added some special effects using his magical hat. Without Lucas, Collette wouldn't have had the courage to do the show and wouldn't have the perseverance and determination to practice every day to improve enough.

Lucas also came to Collette's rescue when she was trying to stop bullies from soaking a little girl with a hose. This little sidekick had made the boy drop the hose by jumping all around him which got him mad and distracted. He then raced to the hose and he threw it in the air to and fro spraying the bullies making sure they had learned a lesson. Without her sidekick, Collette would not have been able to calm the little girl down while taking charge of the bullies' actions.

Our super sidekick also helped Collette when she wanted a dog of her very own. He had helped her beg her parents by doing all sorts of magic tricks to convince them that she was ready for that kind of responsibility. Unfortunately, the answer was still no. So, to change her mind, he cheered her up by going on a bike ride. They were almost home when Lucas, with his super hearing, caught a sound of whimpering.

They raced to its direction and found a hurt dog behind the bushes. They brought the dog to the vet and learned that it was a stray dog and it was very sick. Lucas helped Collette to take good care of the dog for the following days. He read bedtime stories to the dog and gave him yummy treats. Once the dog passed away, Collette was extremely sad, but it made her parents realize that she was responsible enough to have her own rescue dog.

As you can see, Lucas is a very good friend and a courageous monkey. All superheroes need a sidekick to help them fight against villains and Collette has found the perfect one.
