

“Yeahhhh! I found Atlantis! I’m going to be rich! Oh no. Help! Help!”

One day, Ricky was watching TV in a hotel room by the sea. The windows were open, the wind blew in, and the sun was shining warmly. Suddenly, Ricky heard someone shouting, “Help!” He looked out the window. The sea was calm; nothing seemed wrong.

“Odd!” he thought, rubbing his eyes. A few moments later, he felt himself breathing hard. “No, no!” he shouted and opened his eyes—it was just a dream. But then, he realized the room was filling with water.

He quickly looked around. The room was dark, and he could only see blue outside the round windows. Water was flooding the room. He found a ladder and climbed up quickly. “Oh my god!” He realized he was on a boat in the middle of the sea, and the beach was about 500 meters away. Rubbish and oil were floating in the water.

He climbed up to the deck and saw a dazzling green light. Something was getting closer to him. After a few moments, he realized it was a person! She was riding a surfboard, and her entire body was green. She grabbed Ricky onto her surfboard.

“No time to explain, take this and find the magical remote control,” she said.

“What?”

“Find the magical remote control!”

“Where?”

“Atlantis. Put on this ‘Swoxigine Coat.’ It will help you breathe underwater.”

Then, she pushed Ricky into the water and jumped in after him. While they were swimming, Ricky learned that her name was Sustainable Suki. She was searching for the magical remote control to stop the “Pig Man.” The remote control had powerful magic that could control everything just by speaking to it. The Pig Man, who had the head of a pig, was also looking for it. He wanted to turn everyone into pigs and rule them. That way, no one would be free, and the environment would be ruined because of too many pigs! So, they had to stop him.

“Why is the magical remote control in Atlantis?” Ricky asked.

Suki laughed. “I don’t know. Actually, no one knows.”

After a few minutes of searching, Ricky found the magical remote control stuck between two pieces of rock.

“Suki!” Ricky shouted. “I found it! Come help me!”

Suki had an idea. She found a piece of seaweed and tied it between the magical remote control and her surfboard. Then, she started up the surfboard and pulled it out. She pressed a button and said, “Fix Ricky’s boat and transport it to the beach.” Suddenly, Ricky’s boat disappeared.

“What about the rubbish?” Ricky asked.

“Don’t worry, it was all used to fix your boat” Suki replied. It’s time to deal with Pig Man,” Suki said. Then Ricky saw Pig Man swimming toward them.

“what!” Ricky took out a telescope. In the lens he saw a fat man coming closer and closer with brandishes of his fat arms. “Bruh! That’s probably the pig man” he thought. He took a pose and looked ready to fight as he shouted “JUSTICE WILL PREVAIL!” he closed his eyes and swam forward. Pig Man shouted, “Stop struggling! Surrender and turn into pigs! Ha ha ha!”

Suki smiled and pressed the magical remote control. “Turn him into a pig in the zoo.” Suddenly, Pig Man disappeared. As Ricky arms caught empty space and drifted further and further away. “ I’m sure that I beat Pig Man, I can’t feel him on my fist!” He opened his eyes and shouted “Pig Man, you’re and evil man! You lose” he blinked and looked around “wait, where is Pig Man” he asked Suki.

Ricky and Suki looked at each other and laughed. In a zoo on the other side of the world, something strange happened—a pig suddenly appeared in one of the cages, and no one knew where it came from or who it was.

Written By Alan