The Hero's Hero

Compassionate Carlos, a smart, kind, Brazilian and of course a compassionate person is the talk of the town, or better yet, the country! But even heroes need some dependable companions. And that is exactly what Carlos needed. So, who is this 'dependable companion' of Carlos. One day, Carlos was walking down the street, disguised so that ~~the~~ the Papparazzi didn't surround him. Suddenly, he saw ~~two~~ teens bullying a homeless man saying stuff like "Why don't you get a job?". They started to laugh. Carlos was about to take action until another person stepped in to ~~confer~~ confront the bullies. He also comforted the old man and gave him some money.

He was just about to walk away ~~until~~ until Carlos ran to him and asked him his name. 'Conner' he replied. But for us, he is 'Caring Canner'. Carlos told Canner 'I really admire what you did back there. Wanna be Friends?'. Canner agreed. Carlos already knew Canner was special, kind, humble and of course, caring!!

Since that day, they became pretty good friends. Everyday, they met at a cafe known as 'Frances Piccola Cafe' at 9:00 am in the morning. Slowly, Caring Canner also became famous just like Compassionate Carlos because of his kindness. They both were known as 'Two Kind Friends'. One day, they decided to use their kindness for helping others together. They started comforting people who were having a bad time. They were willing to sacrifice anything, and I mean not everything. They were on billboards, posters and more. Some random people even started donating money to them, even though they didn't ask for a reward. Touched by their kindness, The President announced them as 'The Kindest People of the country!!!'. Now, that is, hands down, the best achievement I ever heard of. -

But then, they came across a major problem. Someone on the internet has been spreading rumours about a school called ~~the~~ 'Beeside High'. So, with the ~~help~~ permission of the Principal, The ~~two~~ checked the school in and out and saw people who had been victims of the rumours. They were unsurprisingly sad and embarrassed. So Carlos and Calvin went around and comforted one student to ~~and~~ another. They had been successful in filling the students with joy but what about finding out who the rumour spreader was? They spent days and days turned into weeks and weeks turned into months. The rumour spreader was getting more, more and more popular. But Carlos and Connor weren't gonna give up so easily. Unfortunately, The rumour spreader had ~~blocked~~ hidden his IP and Address. He seemed very cunning and clever. But then, Carlos and Conner came up with a plan. They walked around the school with sharp eyes to see if people were being filmed or being made fun of. In a diary, they wrote names of all the people who could be ruled as a suspect to be the anonymous rumour spreader. One day, they saw a person filming a video of a certain someone being made fun of. They ~~followed~~ followed the person and found out he was the anonymous rumour spreader.

~~The~~ Carlos and Conner wanted to tell the Principal the rumour spreader was that person but they decided to ~~kindly~~ kindly ~~the~~ him to stop. Before they could knock at his door, they heard shouts. They looked inside the window and saw the rumour spreader getting yelled at by his abusive dad. Apparently, the dad was drunk. ~~Then, the~~

Then, Carlos and Conner came to know that the rumour spreader was spreading rumour to take his anger out on others. The next day, they consoled the rumour spreader and asked him to stop. The rumour spreader, touched by their-

Kindness, agreed. Since the rumour spreader was above 18, Parlos and Corner bought him a house to keep him from his abusive dad. That was when the rumour spreader case had closed. Then again they went on with their regular lives, meeting at 9:00 am, helping others, basically being the kindest people in the universe. A few years later, they both got another case to be solved by kindness. A homeless shelter had just opened up. They started ~~donating~~ donating to the shelter. They got an award for the highest donation which is ₹ 18000! They, after a few years, they got married and split apart but still remained their true friendship. Ten years later, they met each other at a supermarket. They were so happy to meet each other that they almost screamed. They greeted each other with 'Hey',

'What's up, man', 'Look who's back', 'Long time no see' and more so. They ~~set~~ went to 'Frances Picalo Cafe' aka, their old spot and discussed about the good old times they had together. They sat ~~there~~ there for about an hour or two. Then, they decided to go around town and distribute goods to the poor, homeless people. After a long day, they decided to book a hotel with three bedrooms. The next day, they were watching TV and saw on News that people started to kick homeless people's cups just for content. And it mostly happened in Carlos ~~And~~ and Conner's country. So they travelled city to city, state to state and comforted all victims and kindly told the people who did so, not ~~to~~ to do so. Carlos and Conner once again spread kindness. Maybe age is just a number' they thought to themselves. They decided to travel the world and spread kindness into other countries just like their ~~amen~~.

Here a bit of their ^{journeys} ~~journeys~~:

1. They went to China to donate to charity. The people there called them a 'Messiah'.

2. They went to Ireland and donated to the Homeless shelter set ~~there~~ there also.

3. They went to Bangladesh and distributed goods to the Homeless.

4. And finally, they went to Africa and donated goods there also.

They thought to themselves 'What an exhausting ~~that~~ vacation. They told their wives all about their adventures and fun. The wives were shocked and wanted to do something like that also.'

The 'Three Kind Friends' had returned.
