

Thinking Tim

Hi, my name is Tim and when I say Tim I mean thinking Tim. I am voting myself as the national sidekick for problem-solving Papri. Well, being a good leader may take a lot of my time and also, we might face a lot of tough questions that we have to solve in a short amount of time or maybe a long period this is when I usually come in to solve glares and blares to fair. Solving problems may sometimes be ridiculously hard but and my friends I usually help anyone we see who is in trouble and try to solve it our best. Thinking is one of my favourites to do as when you get stuck you then will get to solve the problem. Everyone has weaknesses like which is stage fright. When I have my weakness, I try to solve it by giving myself a lot of tips like breathing in and out, or just pretending the audience is potatoes with eyes. My friends all like the way I solve problems and always think positive about things and we solve them in a little funny way but one of my other weaknesses is my temper as I sometimes get mad and I forget what I was supposed to do so I have a little notebook with me so I know what I am supposed to do and lose track. Patience is my last problem I have as sometimes getting a little bothered waiting for something to load or the wheel of death. I also like to be the first one done in everything so that means I rush my work. This is all my weaknesses and how I solved them, how Papri helped me and why I should be his sidekick
