Wild City Rescue

In a beautiful city called Greenville, the new Mayor, Mr. Brown was making an announcement, "Dear citizens, I have an announcement to make. For a long time I have had a huge hatred for, ANIMALS! So, I declare that all the stray animals will be driven out of city!" Sustainability Suki heard about Mr. Brown's declaration, and knew she had to take action. While she was thinking she heard a voice say "I can help you." When she looked behind, she saw a little girl. "My name is Wendy but you can call me, Wild Whisper, I have a gift, I can speak with animals, Look at this!" She made a sound of a bird and a flock of pigeons came flying there! What should I ask them to do? Wendy asked. Tell them to fly to the Mayor's office and spy on him. Sustainability Suki said. A little bit later the pigeons came back and whispered to Wendy's ear "the Mayor has decided he will start the preperations tomorrow! We have to act fast!" Wendy invited the squirrels too and told them to jumble up the Mayor's documents to buy them some more time. A few minutes later the squirrels came running and said that Mr. Brown was working for another man named Mr. Smith and the Mayor was getting paid for making the animals leave town, and they both were going to meet in the park today afternoon! Sustainability Suki decided to take a photo as evidence that the mayor had teamed up with someone else! Then she and Wild Whisper put on disguises and waited in the park. The Mayor arrived and met a guy wearing a hat covering his face. Then he told in a low voice "Here is the money..." They assumed he was Mr. Smith and he gave Mr. Brown a bag full of money. Quickly, Sustainability Suki snapped a picture of Mr. Brown and Mr. Smith. The next day, when the Mayor was going to recite a speech on how the world would be better without stray animals, his papers were indeed jumbled and while he was trying to find his first page of his speech, Sustainability Suki was ready but when she looked beside her Wild Whisper was not there, but Sustainability Suki knew that she had to save the animals so she went up on stage and showed her piece of evidence. But, no matter what she did the Mayor denied to every thing and just when she was about to lose all hope, The crowd made way for Wendy and the dog she was holding! The Mayor rushed towards her and told, "My good, old Rusty!" Turns out that the pigeons whispered to Wendy that they also knew that Mr. Brown had a puppy when he was small and that he actually loved animals and when the Mayor saw Rusty, he admitted to everything! And, at the end all stray animals were safe, Wild Whisper became Sustainability Suki's Sidekick and they both went on amazing adventures together and do their best to make the world a better place.

Anvitha Nandhakumar
Grade 3C
The Millennium School